Your employer may offer group term life coverage if you are not enrolled in the Death and Disability Plan.

AMOUNT OF BENEFITS

Your employer will tell you the amount of your group term life coverage.

HOW IT WORKS

Your employer selects the amount of group term life coverage provided.

- There is no cost to you for this coverage.
- You do not have to provide a health statement to receive group term life coverage.
- Coverage continues as long as your employer provides it without re-enrolling each year, and ends when your PC(USA) employment ends.
- Group term life coverage may not be converted to an individual insurance policy at any time.

If offered by your employer, you may also elect supplemental death benefits coverage for yourself for additional protection against the unexpected loss of income if you die. You may also elect supplemental death benefits coverage for your spouse, and/or your children.

GET STARTED

If your employer provides group term life coverage, you will be automatically enrolled. The only action you need to take is to designate a beneficiary to receive death benefits.

You may elect supplemental death benefits, if offered to you, during annual enrollment, or within 60 days of a qualifying life event.
